The Reverend Plato Johnson sometimes refers to scientific subjects in his discourses. Last Sunday morning in a sermon on the origin of man, he said: "Bruddern, de trouble wid some folks is dat dere brains is too large. I don't 'tend to be pussonal, and has no reference whatever to any man in dis 'sembly; but dar is people in dis worl' who has a 'pression dat day oughter have created de Lord, and dat it was an act of condescenchun on dere parts dat dey 'lowed de Lord to day oughter have created de Lord, and dat it was an act of condescenchun on dere parts dat dey 'lowed de Lord to create dem at all, an' day's been sorry ebber sense dat day didn' assert dem rights en de fust day an' ha'l a hand in making tings. Now, dere's Mr. Darwin, a man who has been makin' a big fuss 'bout de way de Lord put tings togedder, an' beleeds de whole of creation is wrong jist cos he wan't 'sulted. I wish de Lord would gib seech men as him 'bout a couple of acres ob de 'riginal chaos, an' see what kind ob a fist dey would make ob it. I gues dat arter a while dey would sil move off dere own plantation 'an try to rent a house on de land whar de Lord was runnin' de machine. Dis Darwin says dat a man is de granson ob a monkey, an' dat de Bible ain't got de truff ob de matter at all. You'se all de children ob babboons, my belubbed. Wat you tink ob dat? How you like your ancestars? In de beginnin' avery sincle one ob ny belubbed. Wat you tink ob dat? How you like your ancestars? In de begionin' every single one ob you had a long tail—dat was long 'fore you wore trousers—an' some ob you got your tails twisted off, an' some ob you wore trousers—an' some ob you wor 'ahamed ob 'em, an' rubbed 'em eff against de trees, an' at lass de tails got so diagustêd dat dey refused to grow. Dat's wot you are an' dats whar you cum from. Now, den, my idea is dat ebbery man oughter speak for himself on dis subjec'. Ef Mr. Darwia was born up in a tree while his mudder was stealing cocoanuts, it don't follow dat my muddder was up anoder tree doin' de same thing. Darwin is dead shore his ancestors was apes, an' he oughter know. I ain't goin' to contradict it. Ebbery man must look after his own family. As for me, I's a Bible Christian, an' was made out eb de dust, an' don't take no stock in the monkeys. made out ob de dust, an' don't made out eb de dust, an' don't take no stock in the monkeys. I can look any one ob dem in de face widout a blush for my family an' say 'Go 'long 'bout your business, you ole eater ob peanuts, yon ain't no fust cousin ob mine.' I can stan' in front ob a whole cage ob dese funny little' fellers an' don't feel no family sympathy stirrin' in my heart. De fust chapter eb Genesis is good 'nuff for me, belubbed. Pass de box."

One of the most fashionable tonsorial establishments in Philadelphia, Pa., is that of Char Binder, at the N. E. cerner of Seventh and Chestaut streets under Guy's Hotel. Mr. Binder was a soldier in the late war, and for some years past he has had constant reminders of his exposure in the field in the way of rheumatic pains in different portions of his body, and he has always found it very difficult to obtain relief. Latterly the disease mentioned attacked his knee-joints, and Mr. Binder suffered night and day. He had both read and heard about the remarkable properties of St. Jacobs Oil, and resolved to give it a trial. Mr. Binder says he is very glad he did se, for he has found that rheumatism and St. Jacobs Oil could not both hold possession of his knee-joints at the same time, and whenever the Oil made a movement in that direction the rheumatism would beat a hasty retreat. The disease made several attempts to regain its old position, but was each time routed by the Great German Remedy and has broken camp and departed entirely. Mr. Binder now has an exalted opicion of St. Jacobs Oil, and whenever he hears one of his customars complain of rheumatism he exclaims: "Try St. Jacobs Oil." e: "Try St. Jacobe Oil."

GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN PA AGEA. GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN. PA AGEA.

UNCLE BEN JO was born in Boston in 1800. Being a botanist, he effected many wonderful cures with roots and herba. In 1814 he went to South America to study botany, and while there accidentally made his great discovery. The natives of this country were quite familiar with it, and had always supposed for the beap poisonous herb, which they used for the sole purpose of keeping snakes away from their tents or houses. This they did by laying it in a circle about the same at a preparation of the sole purpose of keeping snakes away from their tents or houses. This they did by laying it in a circle about the same at a preparation of the same and a position of the same is a large, burly-looking ball, which stalk and ball, in this hanging position, looks precisely like the tongue of a beil. Hence Uncle Jo samed it the Bell Tongue Plant. In South America this herb is only iound in the extreme interior of the country, and the natives there call it "Zurr Nero." It is a wonderful cure of kidney and liver diseases, also, dyspepsia, neuralgia and rheumatism. We have a whole library full of testimonials. Sold by

THE BILL BEING WELL MAN-A Washington dispatch says that as the result of careful planning and skilfull management, remarkably grate ifying progress was made in the House of Representatives this afternoon, towards the attainment of the action desired by the Pacific coast on the Chinese question. In the first place, the extension of yesterday's ession, in order to pass the anti-polygamy bill, until nearly half past 3 o'clock, was likely to be followed by an ordinary motion for adjournment, which would have temporarily thrown aside the special order in favor of the Chinese bill, with the certain loss of one day's time, and possibility of new complications arising tomotrow. This was prevented by Page's moving an adjournment at 3:25, until 3:30, at which hour the House re-assembled to begin the regular session of Tuesday. He then obtained unanimous consent to dispose of the usual morning hour, and as soon as Speaker Keifer annouced the special order, Page immediately asked unanimous consent that the Senate Chinese bill be taken from the Speaker's table, and substituted for the House bill named in the special order. The great advantage which this would give to the promoters of the Chinese legislation was apparently not perceived by their opponents; or rather the strategic move was made so quickly that comparatively few members at first, noticed it at all. Springer, however, though not opposed to this bill, called attention to the fact that another special order of prior date, was still unexecuted, and Hooker inquired if the Senate and House were identical? Speaker Keifer, who was friendly to the object of Page's motion, quickly assured Springer that the measure he referred to would not lose its place by the proposed action, but could be called up with special priveleges hereafter, and Page with equal promptitude, replied to Hooker that the bills were "very similar." The Speaker thereupon was about to declare that he heard no objection, when Rice, of Massachusetts, exclaimed, "I object!" but under the pressure of depreciatory side appeals from Page, and various other Republicans sitting near him, he almost immediately afterwards said, "If this is substantially the same bill, I won't object." Being again so assured by Page, he subsided, and Speaker Keifer lost no time in declaring that the Senate bill to execute certain treaty stipulations relating to the Chinese was before the pied only a few minutes, and the almost unhoped-for success of the movement was undoubtedly facilitated by the considerable confusion that attended upon the re-assembling of the House after its very recent adjournment. General Miller came over from the Senate room afterward, while bill, he said in conclusion, that eve the bill was being read, and occupied a seat beside Page and the other California members, and joined with them in congratulations on the progress achieved, and consultation as to further management. It was agreed that for the present at least, no limitation should be imposed on the debate, and Page subsequently so informed the House. In view of the late hour when the bill was taken up to-day, the discussion will probably be allowed to run until Thursday, and a vote be taken shortly before adjournment on that afternoon, Page preferring to speak to morrow, and desiring Calkin's prepared speech to appear on record in the morning, including as it Cabell, Calawell, Carlisle, Chapman, record in the morning, including as it does a large number of well-selected extracts from testimony given before the Congressional Commission. Page yielded the floor to the able and popular Indiana Representative, whose introduction to the debate is especially useful, because he discusses the question from an Eastern standpoint, and particularly reviews the famous minority report of Senator Morton, which the Eastern opponents of the bill would otherwise be more likely to rely upon.

WASHINGTON, March 15. In the Anti-Polygamy bill discussion Haskell asked: Do you hold that territorial legislature can repeal the organic act?

Carlisle-Territorial legislature has not attempted to repeal the act; but it has legislated on this subject, and its law is the only one now in force.

Robeson contended that the bill was progressive in its provisions, holdit to be a maxim of law, and was retractive unless so expressed directly.

Carlisle agreed that that was a correct construction of the law, but asserted that Haskell had just an-nounced that the purpose of the bill was to legislate out of office immediately every man who was amenable to its provisions.

Haskell—I did not say immediately.

mean by process of law.

Carlisle—The bill provides, not a Carlisle—The bill provides, not a process of law for the purpose of ascertaining whether the people are guilty of an offense, but it simply says they shall not be competent to hold office. Converse of Ohio endorsed all that was said by Carlisle. The bill, in his judgement, organized disorder, to con-tinue for the next two years in Utah. Williams (Wis.) said the secret vice, however prevalent and deplorable, could never be a justification for the could bever be a justification for the flagrant and open violation of public morels and public law. Mormonism, with its adjunct, polygamy, robbed vice of its hidiousness, and demanded that it should not only be sanctioned by public law, but defined by Divine approval. Good thus intrenched, challenged criticism and defied attack. It disrupted and destroyed families, it loosened the foundation of civil government, removed every corner stone of Republican institutions, and in turn it controlled the ballot box; commanded Courts, and if en-titled to its demand, might command a nation, man ships, march armies and exercise all powers in its defense. While he would persecute no man, while he would give widest liberty to conscience and religion, he would say to Oriental Paganism, with its cus-toms and demands: "Thus far, and no farther; where the clear waters of the Pacific kiss the pure sands of our Western shore— there you shall pause in the presence of the majestic power of the civilization of the noonday of the world." [Applause.]

Robeson replied to the argument, saying that this bill was a blow against free government.

Burrows stated that he would have voted for the bill, though he believed it would disappoint the expectations of its friends. Yet it was worth trying, and he trusted Congress would rise to the high position demanded by the American people and pass some efficient measures that would eradicate this evil of polygamy.

Haskell characterized the Mormon Church as infamous in its objects, its purposes, and in its past accomplish-ments, but magnified in power by the priestly organization, unrivalled by any organization in the world. He wished he could picture to the House this Mormon hierarchy of Utah, which was struck at by this bill. He would like to show the Democrats, who were voting to maintain that infamous institution, how Mormons had slipped out of the control of the General son of New Jersey, Morgan of Ala-Government over 400,000 acres of bama, Davis of West Virginia, Coke public lands, and prostituted them of Texas, and Gorman of Indiana. put it into the hands of municipal organizations. was taken up. Calkins (Ind.), in his advocacy of the Bill, planted himself on the broad ground that the Government owed protection to the labor of the country, and he chalenged any sentimentalists and humanitarians who were opposed to the Bill to reconcile his viewa on this subject. his views on this subject. With his views of protective tariff the opponents of the Bill could not justify their acts. They must protect industries and labor of the country by high tariffs and at the same time open the doors on the Pacific Coast to people who would come lown upon it like locusts against the people of that section. For himself, whenever any person in distress, be he high or humble, white, black or red, should hold out his hands and ask for legislation, he would extend aid to him and would retain no effort to relieve him. Matters then effort to relieve him. Matters then went over for the day, with Page, of California, holding the floor.

Dr. Lamson Found Guilty-How the NEW YORK, March 14.

A London special says: I have reason to believe that in the Lamson case important scientific evidence will be given by eminent physiologists to prove that Stevenson's method of testing aconite by taste is fallacious. It will be shown that delphinia and other vegetable poisons have precisely the same taste. It will also be shown that all alkalæds found in the human body after death will poison the lower animals. It will be shown, teo, that aconite is extensively used in the medical practice on the continent and in the United States for cancer diseases, the officially told, but I believe it will be admitted, that Dr. Lamson administered aconite medically to the boy. An attempt will be made to show that the boy was killed by large doses of morphia, given him by doctors who treated him at the school. When the ver-dict was pronounced Dr. Lamson clasped his hands together and seemed for a moment in despair; but he quickly recovered himself, and, foldng his arms and in a clear voice and with eyes uplifted, slowly and delib-erately said: "I protest my innocence before God." When Justice Hawkins had concluded passing sentence Dr. Lamson, half throwing himself back into the arms of the Warden, was almost lifted from the dock. Testimonial.

To all who may be suffering from any incurable diseases, attention is called to the wonderful cures performed by Mr. A. Zimmer of Beno, Newda. While Mr. Zimmer does not claim to be a physician, yet, whatever he undertakes is sure to terminate in a remanance of the control of diseases, such as cancer and sc oful in all its worst forms, lung, liver, heart and kidney diseases, scrofular, lumps and tumors weighing from 5 to 20 pounds scrofulous were eyes and blindness; bleeding and blind piles in the worst form; chronic and inflammatory rheumatism erysipelas in all its worst forms, neuralgia in the stomach; pleerated sore legs of all kinds; fits or falling sickness; salt rheum in all its worst forms; the seven kinds of draps; milk leg and white swelling; gauprenous or painful incers and martification, though proof against the highest skill of renowned physicians and pronounced incursole by them, are alike treated by him and invariably the patient recovers and enjoys health the cafter free from all previous aliments. The remedies used by Mr. Zimmer are simple but efficacious, consisting simply of laying on of hands and the use of a few simple medicines of his own. He does not claim any supernatural powers, yet it must be conceded from the wonders he has performed that some powerful agency is allied with him. Numerous cases can be cited of almost miraculous cures, and any person by calling on or addressing me will receive further information concerning the subject, and proofs that the above statements are true.

SIERBA VALLEYS CAPACITIES.

SIERRA VALLEY, West Side, March 10, 1882.

ED. GAZETTE: Your correspondence fluence in enlisting capital into various enterprises, which would be of great public benefit, and also vastly remunerative to the investors. From Sierraville to Beckworth's, a distance of about 25 miles, skirting the west side of the valley, will be found a double about 25 miles, skirting the west side of the valley, will be found a double row of enterprising and thrifty pio-neer settlements. One lying along close to the foot hills, and having a heavily timbered background of mag-nificent evergreen, pine, spruce, fir, cedar, tamarack, etc.—the other along the tule, at varying distances of from the tule, at varying distances of from one to four miles; the intervening space forming a vast common of rich, but unimproved and uncultivated land, bearing mostly buffalo grass, and is bearing mostly buffalo grass, and is used by all parties adjoining as an outside pasture. These settlements form an unbroken line, each ranch joining its neighbor, thus forming a vast neighborhood, rich in social advantages, and in striking contrast to many parts of California, where large land owners exclude the possibility of any social pleasures. While on neighborhood advantages, let me note the following: Our neighbor, Wm. Sperry, was burned out while absent from home about a month ago, losing his home about a month ago, losing his dwelling house and all its contents. A dwelling house and all its contents. A house was immediately moved and furnished throughout, including a bountiful supply of Winter previsions, bedding, etc., and benefits in the shape of coin from various social entertainments, dances, etc., to the amount of about $600, thus placing William on his feet again. The tule row of settlements derive their income almost entirely from beef, butter and hay. Along the foothills the farming is more diversified, including, with the above, the chicken business to quite an extent, all the hardy vegetables, potatoes of the finest quality, and grain, wheat, oats, rye and barley. All of the latter Captured a Caramount.

A Sea Francisco officer came un vesse. WITHOUT ANY IRRIGATION hill. The question naturally arises-why do you not enrich yourselves embracing such an opportunity? will answer that there are plenty will answer that there are plenty of men here who by association of their capital, could construct the work, but they already have all the water they want. They are in the stock business, and now have a very useful and convenient outside pasture of Government land, which they would not have long if those reservoirs were constructed, and having made money in ralsing and dealing in cattle, are satisfied to let well enough alone. For centinuous cold weather this Winter caps anything I have seen in a 22-years' residence in the valley. We have now had four months of fine sleighing, and have fair prospects to day, March 10th, for its continuing for some time yet, although from the ground is dry and frozen. Hay is in demand at $4 per ton, and but few will have a surplus for sale. All are looking anxiously for a thaw.

As he says he is not a candidate for anything, this was of course a mistake. Then it was said the Great East was the birth place of the idea. Very likely it will be found that Bishop or Foley advocated it first, thinking that a good talk among the leaders would do the party good, and it no doubt did. At all events there was a hesitation which seemed to show that no one was very anxious to capture the meeting. Powning finally got on his feet, and said he would move that the party get ready to advance on its enemy's works, and that a convention for nominating an entire State ticket be held in Reno on the first Monday in August. Dr. Lee moved to amend to Carson, September 15th. Judge Rising moved, as a substitute, that all action be postponed till the 1st day of June. Judge Bigelow, of Elko, opposed the amendment, as the Eustern posed the amendment, as the Eastern members did not want to make another trip. Powning opposed it because late nominations favored money campaigns, and said the Republicans could put up a ticket that could
